

Results Essentials

Results Essentials workshops equip participants with the tools they need to define, track, verify and communicate the results they achieve for a specific program or project. Program teams serve as the action arm of an organization's mission- the reason the organization was created to begin with. However, professional development opportunities and actionable resources for program teams are limited or non-existent.

Results Essentials (RE) is for program teams and other staff who play an active role in the creation, delivery, and determination of results. RE consists of a series of four workshops over the course of one to two months.

RE workshops are for organizations of any size or structure whether they have no paid staff or over 100 employees. Workshops can be offered to small number of non-profits or can accommodate large crowds of 100 or more participants. The number of participants impacts the level of interaction with the workshop guide when it comes to having questions answered or specific scenarios addressed.

RE workshops are typically funded by a foundation or grant maker.

Participants will be equipped with practical tools and resources to do the following:

- Define success for their program and/or organization.
- Establish milestones to ensure their program is on track.
- Track results by using the Tracking to Success method.
- Verify success.
- More effectively and succinctly communicate their organization's or program's results.

Results Essentials can also be delivered as a refresher to organizations who have completed a Results Framework or the Results Team Program.
